

UC Davis 2018 LRDP:

Exceeding student enrollment housing needs

Access to housing is a significant challenge throughout the state of California and critical to supporting the strong sense of community cultivated by our university. To provide future students with easy access to academic resources and multiple options to live on campus, UC Davis is pursuing the most ambitious student housing construction initiative in its history – one that even exceeds the university’s potential enrollment growth.

This student-housing plan, which includes capacity for adding up to 9,050 beds of new campus housing, was included as part of the university’s 2018 Long Range Development Plan (LRDP) – a comprehensive, multi-year community engagement and planning effort – and approved by the UC Board of Regents at their July 19, 2018 meeting.

This document provides additional details and outlines the university’s timeframe for addressing this important section of the LRDP for our community.

By 2023 UC Davis will add 6,115 new beds – 118% of potential enrollment growth. UC Davis will add an additional 2,935 beds by 2030 and so realize all 9,050 beds identified within the LRDP. Finally, the campus will continue to actively partner with the City to entitle the Nishi project which may accommodate an additional 2,000 student immediately adjacent to campus.
